NVBS acquires Alex Mät & Utsättning AB (pending name change to Svenska Mätteknikgruppen)

NVBS has entered into a binding agreement to acquire technical surveying company Alex Mät & Utsättning AB.

NVBS is a fast growing company under strong development. During the last year there has been a specific focus on preparing NVBS for its continued growth journey. The business has been strengthened from an organisational point of view which, in addition to the strong organic growth, has created favourable conditions for NVBS to now also grow through acquisitions.

"I am very pleased to welcome Alex Mät to NVBS Rail. We share the same leadership philosophy as well as workplace culture and this acquisition will further strengthen our offering to the benefit of our customers" says Håkan Nyman, CEO, NVBS Rail.

"I look forward to continue developing Alex Mät together with NVBS. By jointly approaching the market we will be a stronger partner to our customers with increased resources and a broadened service offering", says Alexander Chennaoui, founder of Alex Mät & Utsättning AB.
